FPV-READY RACING DRONE

IMPRESSIVELY EQUIPPED FOR EDGE-OF-YOUR-SEAT FPV

- It's the ultimate First Person View racing drone — just add a 5-channel radio and your choice of monitor or goggles!
- See your flights in real time with the 200mW 5.8GHz Raceband video transmitter
- Four 2280kV brushless motors and four high-frequency ESCs with OneShot 125 programming provide the speed and agility for FPV racing
- Add a micro memory card to store, edit and upload high-quality action videos from the on-board 600TVL FPV camera
- Includes a 3S LiPo battery, AA batteries and spare props — just add a 5-channel radio and your choice of monitor or goggles!

Advanced 5.8GHz technology lets you view your flights clearly and with no latency. The eight specially-reserved Raceband channels are optimized for pro FPV racing.

Injection-molded construction makes the Vusion 250 tough enough to bounce back from most crashes. Its state-of-the-art modular design means the arms can be easily replaced to get you back in the air ASAP.

GET YOUR RADIO AND GO!

1/24 #10® DANICA PATRICK ASPEN DENTAL FORD FUSION

A career of firsts

Danica was the first woman to win an IndyCar race, the first to lead the Indy 500, the first to win a NASCAR® pole position. These are absolutely not easy feats for anyone, and they're all the more exemplary because they blaze trails for women in what is commonly considered a "man's sport". As of the 2017 season, the Stewart-Haas Racing Team and Danica Patrick has changed over to running Ford Fusions. Kit features seated racing driver figure, pre-painted black window edges, full engine, interior detail, and trunk detail.

1/25 '70 DODGE CHARGER R/T

Quite the looker

Second generation Dodge Chargers were styled to be distinctively different and their unique look has made them popular collectors options to today. Fully restored examples of these classics can fetch a pretty penny at auction. Even better is the top-of-the-line R/T model which came standard with distinctive striping and high impact colors. Kit features detailed HEMI® V-8 engine, separate reverse side scoops, and Tampo printed Red Line tires.

1/72 SEA HARRIER FRS MK.1 "FALKLANDS" (2 KITS)

Striking for the sovereign

Argentina thought they could take the Falklands from the Brits. They could. Argentina thought they could keep the Falklands from the Brits. They absolutely could not. A large portion of that inability was due to the Sea Harrier. British warships sailed the length of the globe and smashed the Argentine forces in the area. Sea Harriers were responsible for interdicting aircraft the Argentines threw into the conflict—including those carrying the all-important Exocet Missile. This limited edition kit combo features two Harriers from HMS Hermes.

1/24 TOYOTA CELICA TURBO 4WD 1993 SAFARI RALLY WINNER

Excelling in East Africa

The Safari Rally is one of the toughest rally races in the world, if not the toughest. Between the unpredictable weather, rough roads and 621 miles (1000 kilometers) of timed stages, every driver has his work cut out for him. These factors make Juha Kankkunen's and Ian Duncan's first and third-place finishes in 1993 even more impressive. This limited edition kit features upgraded wheels and two marking options: 1. 1993 Safari Rally Winner Car No.1, Driver: Juha Kankkunen and 2. 1993 Safari Rally 3rd Place Car No.3, Driver Ian Duncan.

1/24 CHARGE MAZDA 767B

Daytona dynasty

The Mazda 767B made its motorsports debut on the track of the IMSA 24 Hours of Daytona in 1989. By the race's end, the 767B scored a respectable fifth-place finish, encouraging Mazda to test the car at other tracks. At the 24 Hours of Le Mans competition, two 767Bs finished in seventh and ninth places. The following year wasn't as promising for Mazda, as the 767B finished in 20th place. This limited edition kit features one marking option: 1. 24 Hours of Le Mans, 1989, Car No. 202, 9th place.

1/24 BMW 320i

Active acceleration

When it was introduced in 1975, the BMW 320i instantly stood out from other cars. This popular luxury sedan could go from 0 to 60 mph (100 km/h) in 9.9 seconds and reach a top speed of 113 mph (182 km/h). The car's impressive acceleration and top speed was thanks to the M10 straight-4 engine, the heart and soul of many BMW models from the early 1960s through the late 1980s. US models added a thermal reactor to reduce exhaust emissions. This limited edition kit features detailed parts.

1/24 ADVAN COROLLA LEVIN

Untamed touring

During the 1992 Japanese Touring Car Championship, Morio Nitta and Keiichi Suzuki were determined to take Team Advan to the front of the finish line. While the team won the second round race at the Autopolis in Oita, unfortunately, their winning streak was short-lived. Fortunately for both drivers, their luck improved the following season, as they earned fifth- and sixth-place standings, respectively. This limited edition kit features one marking option: 1. Japan Touring Car Championship 1992, Team Advan, Car No. 25.

1/24 PORSCHE 944 TURBO RACING

Turbocharged for top-of-the-line performance

If your idea of fun is going 0-60 mph in 5.9 seconds, the Porsche 944 Turbo is your ride. Introduced in 1985, the 944 Turbo had a turbocharged engine that produced 217 hp at 6,000 rpm. The car's popularity resulted in the famous 944 Cup racing series. It has four officially recognized chapters in North America, as well as two classes: Cup for 8-valve engine Porsches and Super Cup for 16-valve engine Porsches. This limited edition kit features one marking option: 1. Porsche 944 Turbo Cup 1987, Car No. 1.

1/200 P-8A POSEIDON "VP-5 MAD FOXES"

Sniffing for subs

VP-5 is one of the longest-standing squadrons in the US Military. It has been continuously active since 1937. Today, it uses the P-8A in its broad-based mission of watching everything on and below the waves. The P-8 not only carries the necessary sensors for detecting surface warships, submarines, and more, it also carries the necessary munitions for dealing with said threats on five internal and six external stations. This limited edition kit features detailed parts and decals for two iMad Foxes aircraft.

1/72 SOC-3 SEAGULL BATTLESHIP SQUAD (2 KITS)

Superior scout

The SOC Seagull very nearly missed its date with destiny. This reliable but aging biplane first flew in 1934 and was due to be rotated out in favor of the SO3C Seamew. However, this new plane was a poor replacement and the SOC-3 stayed in service until the end of the war, spotting the fall of shells and scouting for enemy ships. This limited edition kit combo features two models—one with a float and one with wheels plus decals for birds aboard the Colorado and New York.

Tenryū was a tough Japanese light cruiser commissioned just after the First World War and used in WWII. She served well during the Second Sino-Japanese war then, during WWII, fought at Wake Island, off Guadalcanal, and extensively in the waters around New Guinea. She was sunk by USS Albacore off Madang. The vessels of the Tenryū class were new designs intended to lead destroyer flotillas. Long, thin, and fast for cruisers, they were lightly armed, but equipped with a triple-tube torpedo launcher. Kit features full hull, photo-etched parts, and full decals.

Kaoru Shintani's action-packed manga, Area-88, debuted in 1979. It was an instant hit, exciting readers with the exploits of Shin Kazama—a mercenary fighter pilot stationed at a top-secret air base called Area-88. X-29s are absolutely perfect for the intense action Shin Kazama gets into. The series, which was praised for its white-knuckle dogfighting action, inspired multiple animated films and a television series. This limited edition kit features decals for Kazama's aircraft in the Kingdom of Arslan Air Force.

Designed by Hiro Fujimori, the Toyota 88C first appeared at the 1988 All Japan Sports Prototype Championship. During its debut, the 88C scored a pair of top-five placements, showing enough promise to enter that year's 24 Hours of Le Mans Race. Two 88Cs participated, each equipped with a powerful Toyota 3S-GTM 2100 cc turbocharged inline-4 mid-mounted engine that produced 600 hp. The 88C made one more Le Mans appearance in 1989, followed by a fourth-place finish at the Dijon-Prenois race. This limited edition kit features detailed parts and decals.

Kei Nagase is a study in contrasts—a ferocious fighter and a pacifist, a dynamic pilot and a contemplative soul. Don't let those contrasts fool you, though. Kei is as tough as they come. Her vehicle of choice, here, is the Mitsubishi F-2A. A derivative of the F-16 Fighting Falcon, the F-2A is as agile as it is lethal. Plus, much like Kei herself, the F-2 is always on the hunt. It's equipped with an active electronically-scanned array radar that probes the cloud for enemies. This limited edition kit features Ace Combat Infinity and Assault Horizon decals for pilot Kei Nagase.

1/9 NORTON COMMANDO PR 750CC

Shaken and stirred

The Norton Commando was a standout café racer-style motorcycle from its introduction in the mid-sixties to well into the seventies. It won the Motor Cycle News "Machine of the Year" award an astonishing five years in a row. Of course, it did have its problems. The twin-cylinder engine, for instance, vibrated like a cement mixer and had to be separated from the frame by rubber gaskets to avoid shaking riders off the seat. Nevertheless, it was beloved. Kit features parts made in upgraded molds, some clear parts, and full decals.

1/72 EL ALAMEIN BATTLE RAILWAY STATION DIORAMA

Monty's big push

At El Alamein, the British finally first stopped (in the first battle of El Alamein) and then reversed the gains of the famed "Afrika Korps". With a near 2 to 1 advantage in men, machines, and materiel, then-general Bernard Montgomery ground down and peeled back German-Italian defenses with deadly assaults over two weeks. Neither side wanted to give an inch, but, in the end, the British took miles. Kit features a railway station with water tank and tracks plus 100 British and German figures, a Panzer IV, a Sherman, an Italian heavy gun, and a Morris Quad Tractor with 25 pounder gun.

1/72 C-27J SPARTAN

Hercules' little brother

Through no fault of its own, the C-27J Spartan has experienced quite a lot of turbulence in its introduction. It's essentially a smaller, two-prop version of the C-130 intended to transport troops and cargo into hotter, less prepared combat zones. Then money stepped in. Or, rather, the lack of it. Budget cuts saw Spartans being sent directly from production lines to the Boneyard at Davis Monthan. Fortunately, the US Coast Guard and small air forces in many countries have taken on these worthy aircraft. Kit features detailed parts and three sets of decals.

1/35 M32 RECOVERY VEHICLE

Need a lift?

When a tank slips a track, gets hit, bogs down in the mud, or experiences any of the other host of difficulties war machines experience... what do you do? In the case of the M4 Sherman, suddenly that tank is a 60-90,000 pound roadblock. That's where the M32 and M32B1 come in. These modified Sherman tank chassis were equipped with a 60,000 lb-capable winch and an 18-foot jib for hauling out the heaviest vehicles. Plus, an 81mm mortar and 50-cal machine gun gave the crew some self-defense capability if Germans were about. Kit features three sets of decals and new style tracks.

1/72 MAGACH 6

Armored fist of Israel

In 1973, on Yom Kippur, Egypt, Syria, and various attached forces from other Arabic states once more attempted to extinguish Israel. Israel proved, once more, that it had no interest in letting itself be extinguished. The Magach 6 helped stop Egyptian forces and then push back to within 100 kilometers of Cairo. However, with numerous Russian-supplied anti-tank missiles on the Arab side, Israeli tank forces suffered badly. After nineteen days, the war ended with little changed. Kit features decals for two tanks from the Yom Kippur War.

Academy® 1/35 T-34/79 No.183 Factory Production

The hammer and the sickle

It's so bloody cold, even with the heat from the engine the air is thick with vapor from every breath. Out there, somewhere, are the Romanian devils, dutifully guarding the German flank at Stalingrad like faithful doggies. Somewhere. The blizzard coming down is clogging the ports, covering the gunsights. But they're out there. The main gun is loaded, machine guns are locked and loaded, and a hundred T-34s, in line, race forward as the spear tip to gouge the lines and allow the one million men behind them to pour through.

One of a kind

Literally as quick as thought, the psycommu frame on the Gundam Unicorn taps into the pilot's mind to take actions before control inputs are applied. It's one of the few ways that "newtypes" can be destroyed by non-newtypes. It's also extremely draining on pilots as the human mind isn't intended to control the weapons systems of a towering mechanized killing machine. Kit features beam magnum, shield, two beam sabers, hyper bazooka, stickers, full instructions. Close in and kill

A kunai is a deceptively simple looking weapon, but it's exceptionally deadly. You can throw, stab, and slash with it and its clean wedge shape makes it perfect for piercing armor. Up-size that to the scale of a towering Gundam, heat it with a reactor, and throw it with the gargantuan power of electric servos, and it's not hard to see why it's a weapon to be reckoned with. Fred Reber pilots the suit in Gundam Unicorn and he's got no compunctions about getting in real close. Kit features 14 removable "heat darts", movable mono eye, giant bazooka, and full instructions.

Dragon Models 1/48 Me262A-1A Jabo

Just too fast

The first and heaviest armed of WWII jet aircraft, the Me 262 was a true terror of the skies. It was simply faster than anything the Allies had to offer. In fact, it was so fast that pilots had trouble lining up the short-ranged 30mm cannons in the few seconds they had before overtaking targets. When those four pounding cannons did hit, however, their explosive-packed shells simply shredding targets. Roughly four hits could down extremely tough heavy bombers and a single hit would blot a fighter out of the sky.

Dragon Models 1/48 He 162D Volksjager WWII Jet Fighter

Last ditch effort

With the war rapidly coming to its conclusion, the Luftwaffe decided they needed a fighter that was fast to produce, technically superior, and easy to fly. They wanted to put Hitler Youth pilots who had barely completed glider training behind the controls of cutting-edge jet fighters made out of wood. It was crazy... and it very nearly worked. Luckily, it was the last year of the war before these went on duty. Kit features newly tooled swept wings, detailed engines, photo-etched parts, and full decals.

Dragon Models 1/35 1/4-Ton 4x4 Ambulance Truck with Six GI Figures

Far from home

The medic's teeth rattle in his head. Every rut, every bump jars through the suspension and shakes the GI on the stretcher like a rag doll. It's all the medic can do to hold the boy's blood-soaked hand and the IV at the same time, but he won't let go. The trees are exploding. Aircraft scream overhead. The medic can't look up, just down at red spreading across too many bandages. The truck slews hard right and comes to a halt. The field hospital is packed. They pull the stretcher off the back. The orderly touches the boy's neck lightly. Pauses. Looks at the medic. His head shakes. The truck heads back for another. The medic looks at his empty hands.

Lindberg Models Jolly Roger Series: Hex Marks the Spot

Black sails and blacker hearts

A cold wind creeps across the wrecked deck of the pirate ship as it wallows in the shallows. The tattered sail grips a fallen mast and the stove-in timbers groan beneath the unlimbered guns. A grim cadaver stands at the helm, his skeletal grin stretched tight in a vicious mockery of life. Fear grips your blackened soul, but there be the chest and there be the map. Ye've only to reach for either and there be riches, plunder, rum and women. Yer tremblin hand stretches for the map and it's all over in a flash. Gullied for sure. Kit features scenic diorama with skeleton-popping action and tons of cool accessories.

Moebius 1/8 Creature From The Black Lagoon

Mostly misunderstood

He's not evil, he just wants to be loved! Well, and eat people. And drag screaming movie heroines to a secluded grotto. Oh, and he traps people in a lagoon of death. Okay, so maybe he is evil, but he's also one of the iconic fifties movie monsters that put the horror genre on the map. Buy him, build him, love him, hate him... just don't go swimming with him.

Moebius 1/50 2001: A Space Odyssey Moon Bus

Hello Dave

Love it or hate it, 2001: A Space Odyssey has made an indelible mark on cinema history. And, while we're far, far from taking a mission to Jupiter, it has made an impact on science and technology as well. The Moon Bus schlepps across the surface of the moon, carrying personnel across the barren surface to research stations. Build yours and save a piece of nostalgia today.

Tamiya 1/35 German Assault Tank IV Brummbär Late Prod.

Big, booming Brummbär

The Brummbär is a 15cm howitzer-toting assault tank (Sturmpanzer). It was built on the reliable and versatile Pz.Kpfw. IV chassis. It was ordered by Hitler himself, and produced in various incarnations from April 1943 to March 1945. The most numerous was the late production variant depicted by this model. It used the Pz.Kpfw. IV Ausf. J chassis and had a simplified boxy fighting compartment with an extrusion on the top-left to house a machine gun. In a losing battle, its dedicated Assault Tank Battalions fought in Hungary and the former Czechoslovakia.
